

CIVICUS IN COOPERATION WITH OHCHR AND UNDP
INVITES YOU TO A DISCUSSION ON:

‘TRANSFORMING GLOBAL GOVERNANCE:
ADDRESSING THE DOUBLE DEMOCRATIC DEFICIT’

International governance and multilateral institutions can play a positive role in addressing pressing human rights concerns and are valued by civil society as arenas in which issues of civil society rights can be raised and international support can be won. However, while international governance institutions were set up to tackle large problems, they face serious challenges in ensuring people-centred responses to contemporary international economic, social, political and environmental crises. Global problems still lack global people-oriented solutions. This panel will provide a unique opportunity to discuss what steps can be taken to ensure greater citizen participation within multilateral institutions.

For more information please contact: renate.bloem@civicus.org www.civicus.org • facebook/CIVICUS • CIVICUSalliance

WHERE:

Palais des Nations, Room
XXI

WHEN:

Thursday 05 March

16:00 – 17:30

Speakers:

- Maina Kiai, UN Special Rapporteur on rights to freedom of peaceful assembly and of association
- Mandeep Tiwana, CIVICUS, Head of Policy and Research via skype
- Jane Connors, OHCHR, Director, Research and Right to Development
- Neil Buhne, Director, UNDP, Geneva

Moderator:

- Renate Bloem, CIVICUS, Head of Geneva Office